

Homework 9.1. Conclusion

1. Write down the three most important things you have learnt during the course, before comparing and contrasting with your partner.

1.

2.

3.

2. Now refer back to your first homework assignment and compare your answers with those you put at the beginning. While discussing these issues with your partner, consider the following questions:

- Have your hopes and fears changed?
- Has anything in particular surprised you during the course?
- Have you found out more about yourself and your partner?
- What else may have changed in terms of your opinion towards parenthood?
- Have you got more questions you would like answered and how can you find about more about them?
- Do you feel more able to communicate with each other now than beforehand?
- Are you more confident about becoming a parent?
